Top Reasons to Use MultiQuant™ Software

Reduce Software Learning Time

Intuitive workflow from start to finish and on-line training courses makes MultiQuant Software quick to learn.

MultiQuant Software is a single approach to quantifying any molecule type (small molecules or peptides/proteins) as well as the following scan types i.e. MRM, MRM3 or full scan data. Data processing for laboratories moving from small to large molecule quantification are handled in the same way.

Also, SCIEXUniversity supports the learning process by providing a wealth of information on using MultiQuant Software and much more.

1

Fast Data Processing

Fast processing speeds means more time can be spent critically reviewing data.

MultiQuant processing speeds significantly faster than Analyst® Software, therefore, helping to reduce the processing bottleneck.

2

Peak Review Made Easy

Powerfully handles multiple analyte assay data, making the reviewing process effortless.

Reliable and reproducible integrations of sample peaks result in less manual integration for quicker chromatogram review.

The slide show feature provides a way to quickly review data with minimal mouse clicks.

3

Fast Outlier Mining

Built-in queries make outlier mining quick and easy to perform and problem samples do not go unnoticed.

MultiQuant Software built-in queries were designed to flag outliers and filter data so that out of range or problem samples can be found easily therefore reducing processing time.

4

User-Friendly Reporting & Auditing

MultiQuant Software is designed for GXP laboratories to improve efficiency and facilitate compliance through an easy-to-use interface with powerful software functionality.

MultiQuant Software has many functions to help make CFR part 11 compliance painless. By grouping audit events analyst's data processing time can be condensed. Auditing has been simplified by providing the ability to filter and search the audit trail and tracking samples across multiple results tables. Changes to the data and chromatograms before and after the data has been changed are shown in the reports for easy interpretation.
